Couple's anger at rubbish 'eyesore'

AN ELDERLY couple battling against cancer have hit out over rubbish left outside their home that they say is an eyesore and claim is infested with rats.

Tony Clarke, 79, and his 76-year-old wife, Milly, who have both been travelling to Addenbrooke's for treatment, want the fenced-off pile of builders' waste to be removed.

For the past five months, the large compound surrounded by metal fencing has been sited on a grassy area next to their home. Despite numerous efforts, they have failed to discover why it has been left there so long or when it will be moved.

Mr Clarke, who has lived in his home at Tower Court, Haverhill, for more than 50 years, said when it was first put up the compound had two offices, building materials and a portable toilet inside. Now it has only one office building, which has never been used, and piles of rubbish.

Mr Clarke said: "I have spoken to several people about it but never got anywhere. When the men told me they were working at Kedington and Stansfield I was really angry.

"What must they be paying people to travel backwards and forward to bring their rubbish back here? It is an eyesore and at the moment it is really infested with rats because of the big piles of rubbish there.

"They put it here before when Havebury were doing some work and they were going to put it right outside my window until I told them not to. It was taken away for a few months, and then they put it back.

"It has not been used at all for about a month but someone must be paying for it to be there. If it is Havebury or the council, then I am paying for it.

"It is a real mess and I cannot see why it needs to be there. Neither of us is in the best of health and we could do without it."

Philip Sullivan, Havebury director of operations, said: "I apologise for any inconvenience caused to tenants by the storage area at Tower Court.

"It was put up by our contractors, Mitie Property Services, as they undertake important re-roofing and rendering work to 90 Havebury homes at a number of locations.

"Currently, the compound contains a toilet, wooden pallets and two containers which is a reduction in size from the initial facilities provided for their workforce.

"The storage area, which fully complies with health and safety regulations, will be moved from Tower Court on September 7, as Mitie moves work to another location."

Flower power is weekend church treat

COLOURFUL flowers and paintings brightened up a village church for parishioners.

Castle Camps United

Reformed Church held its flower festival and art exhibition over the bank holiday weekend.

Minister Karen Knight

and church members greeted visitors on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Stalls were put out and and refreshments were on offer.

A Sunday morning service was led by Rev Chris Baker and there was an evening Songs of Praise service for members of the parish to go along and sing their favourite hymns.

Suicide verdict on hanged council boss

A SENIOR Suffolk council officer who took his own life was under "intense pressure" as his authority made budget cuts, an inquest has heard.

David White, head of legal services at Suffolk County Council, was found hanged in Butley Woods, near Woodbridge, on April 4, just days after being appointed to the post on a permanent basis. He had worked for the council for 20 years.

His suicide sparked an independent investigation into the alleged "domineering" management style of the council's chief executive Andrea Hill.

Mrs Hill has since been cleared of any blame but left the council by mutual consent.

An inquest at IP-CityCentre, Ipswich, has heard Mr White had played a key role in overseeing a 30 per cent cut to council budgets and had raised concerns over the integrity of consultations over the cuts.

He had also seemed "uncomfortable" at telling Mrs Hill that some decisions would be unlawful, his manager Eric Whitfield said in a written statement.

In a suicide note read to the inquest, Mr White wrote: "Dear Andrea, I just wanted you to know that my death is not in any way or sense directed at you personally or meant as a comment on your leadership of the council or the new strategic direction."

"It is simply that I have been unable to cope with the demands being placed upon me."

The inquest heard from colleagues who said Mr White had been concerned about the integrity of the council. Mr Whitfield, who was assistant director of scrutiny and monitoring at the council but left shortly before Mr White's death, said Mr White had worked diligently on the cuts programme.

Mr White's wife, Susan, said in a statement that her husband had always worked in stressful roles and regularly worked on Saturday and Sunday mornings to cope with his heavy workload.

She said that in the days leading up to his death she "realised he was under stress about work" but did not worry as he had always worked hard.

She described the 51-year-old father of two, of Rushmere St Andrew, Suffolk, as a sociable, quiet and gentle man who enjoyed being with his family.

Peter Dean, Greater Suffolk coroner, recorded a verdict of suicide, saying it was clear Mr White understood the consequences of his actions.

MP on hand to open new-look store

MP Matthew Hancock officially opened a town's new DIY shop during the bank holiday weekend.

Entertainment and music was also provided to welcome customers to the new-look store at Haverhill.

Mr Hancock met the 21 store staff from the former Focus store and the 18 new staff recruited from the local community.

It took just six weeks to transform the store from the former Focus DIY to B&Q.

Store manager Simon Philips said: "We're thrilled to have Matthew Hancock MP officially open the store. The team, made up of existing Focus staff and new recruits, has worked really hard to get the store up and running in just six weeks."

Mr Hancock said: "It is great news for Haverhill that B&Q have taken over the former Focus DIY store and recruited so many of the former employees. It also shows how Haverhill is a town on the up. Talking to the B&Q staff, it is clear how dedicated they are."

Factory worker beat and kicked woman

A FACTORY worker from Haverhill who beat up his partner has been made the subject of a restraining order.

Keith Brown, 53, appeared at Ipswich Crown Court on Tuesday after admitting at a previous hearing to an offence of assault by battery.

Judge John Holt granted a restraining order banning Brown from having any contact with his victim or from entering the Bull public house in Camps Road, Haverhill, for the next five years.

Brown was arrested and charged following an incident in Haverhill on May 3 last year in which he repeatedly struck his victim's head against a wall.

The assault had begun in a bedroom where Brown had pushed the woman, causing her to fall and strike her head against a wall.

The attack continued in the living room where she was pushed several times so that her head hit a wall and she was pushed over backwards.

Prosecutor Michael Crimp said that Brown then knocked his victim to the ground where he kicked her in the stomach and ribs, while verbally abusing her.

She was later taken to hospital to be examined and prescribed painkillers.

Mr Crimp said that 10 years earlier Brown had been convicted of a domestic assault against a different woman.

Lynne Shirley, defending, said that Brown, of Aragon Road, Haverhill, had had time to reflect on his actions and had learned from what he had done.

He had now not been in contact with the woman for more than a year.

Brown had worked for a paint manufacturer in Haverhill for six years and was the only person at the plant who could do the job he did involving the mixing and tinting of paint.

There was concern that if Brown was ordered to be electronically tagged to enforce a curfew as part of his punishment, the device could pose a safety risk at the paint factory where there were highly inflammable substances and invalidate the company's insurance cover.

Judge John Holt told Brown: "This was a serious incident of domestic violence, all the more serious because your previous history before the courts has an earlier incident of domestic violence 10 years ago on a different person."

Brown will remain under probation service supervision for 12 months, have to carry out 250 hours of unpaid community work, pay £500 compensation to his victim and £200 prosecution costs.

Falconry and majorettes entertain at village fair

COUNTRYSIDE pursuits and entertainment will be among attractions at an annual village event on Sunday.

The Thurlow Fair will be held on the village recreation ground from noon, with a car boot sale from 10am.

Falconer Michael Davie will blend historical tradition with modern aspects of falconry, providing both static and flying displays.

The Urban All Stars Majorettes, who have performed at fetes and carnivals in Suffolk and North Essex this summer, will bring a mix of music and fun to their display.

Hadstock Silver Band return to the event by popular demand, providing a repertoire of their award-winning performances.

Members of Haverhill Centrestage will sing songs from well known musicals, including Copacabana, for which they are currently rehearsing.

Children can enjoy the Linton Radio Race Car Club, Doc Spinoff Circus Skills, a reptile experience, face-painting, a giant slide, bouncy castle, toddler rides – and hopefully a children's fun tug-of-war.

Zorbing is a new feature this year and visitors are also encouraged to try archery, as well as having a go on the bottle stall, crockery smashing and coconut shy. A fun dog show will be open to all and the Thurlows 2010 book will be on sale in the history marquee. Admission prices are adults £2, OAPs £1 and children 50p. The car boot is £10 per car. ## Fun day at home of the Rovers

YOUNGSTERS tried out their climbing skills on a visit to a football ground.

A climbing wall, as well as other sports and activities, were provided at the New Croft, home of Haverhill Rovers Football Club in Chalkstone Way, on Wednesday.

The event was the last in a series of free Wicked Wednesdays provided by Haverhill Town Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council to entertain children and their families during the school holidays.

Previous events included a children's festival on the recreation ground, a picnic in the East Town Park and an ice rink on the Plaza.

One Haverhill to improve life in town

RESIDENTS are being urged to raise issues and make suggestions for improving life in their town at a new group.

The One Haverhill group will hold its first meeting, a joint one with the police Safer Neighbourhood Team priority setting, on Monday at Burton End Primary School in School Lane, Haverhill, at 7pm.

The One Haverhill group has replaced the former Haverhill Partnership, but will retain its membership of various councils, agencies such as health, housing, education and business, as well as the voluntary sector.

Chairman Cllr Anne Gower, who is a member of Suffolk County Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council, urged people to attend the meeting to raise issues of concern and let the group know what people would like it to do.

Cllr Gower said: "This is not just about policing issues, it is about listening to what the public want us to tackle. A lot of good work goes on in Haverhill, but sometimes it is all in separate silos. A lot of times I talk to groups and you have got duplication going on. When everything is so tight for time and money we have got to stop this and work a lot smarter together to get the same results.

"It is all about people taking pride in their surroundings, pride in Haverhill, and bringing in topics we can help with. People often don't bring things to councillors who could help because it is just not on their radar.

"It is something very new and we have to be very flexible. I would like to blur the identities of the three local authorities.

"It does not matter to people whether it is a town council, county or borough responsibility, just as long as it gets done. We want it to have teeth, which the partnership did not have, and hopefully it can attract funding and make a real difference in the town."

Cllr Tim Marks will also chair the SNT part of the meeting, which will establish new priorities for local police officers to tackle.

Man on riot-related charge

A HAVERHILL man has appeared in court charged with an offence related to the rioting in English cities earlier this month.

Raymond Chisnall, 19, of Chedburgh Place, appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court on Friday August 26, charged with sending by public communication network an offensive, indecent, obscene or menacing message on Tuesday August 9.

The court heard it is believed the alleged offence relates to a Facebook message or text.

Lesla Small, prosecuting, said the case was linked to the recent rioting.

She added it is standard policy to have such cases reviewed before the defendant is charged and to ask for an adjournment.

Magistrate David Hooley told

Chisnall: "As you have heard, the prosecution need more time to deal with this matter, so it is going to be adjourned until the September 9."

"Until that time, you are on unconditional bail."

Before Chisnall's next court appearance, a senior lawyer will review the case, and the offence the defendant has been charged with could change.

School set for 'free' status

A SCHOOL in Clare is to become one of the first free Government schools to open this month.

Stour Valley Community School is part of the Government's drive to raise education standards across the country and tackle educational disadvantage.

Funding agreements for all 24 schools have been signed and are ready to welcome their first Free School pupils.

Under the Government's radical new plans, free schools will also be able to prioritise the most disadvantaged children in their school admissions arrangements.

Education Secretary, Michael Gove, said: "The most important thing for any parent is to be able to send their child to a good local school, with high standards and strong discipline. That is why we are opening Free Schools across the country."

"Too many children are being failed by fundamental flaws in our education system."

"By freeing up teachers and trusting local communities to decide what is best, our reforms will help to raise standards for children in all schools."

The Peel2Save fundraising card fits into a purse or wallet and contains 64 individual coupons, each promoting an offer from a local business.

The card is sold for £10 by organisations and good causes and they keep £5 from every card sold.

A number of local businesses, who have supported Peel2Save with offers have also taken the opportunity to sell cards on behalf of their chosen charity. The Haver Arms, KAD Cars and Frankie & Benny's will be selling cards on behalf of St Nicholas Hospice Care and Abbeycroft Leisure has agreed to support HAVO.

Launched nationally in June, the Peel2Save initiative in Haverhill is being run by local businesswomen Jenni Donno from Social Media

Success and Elaine Carr, owner of thebestofhaverhill.

Jenni Donno said: "The Peel2Save cards are available to any not-for-profit organisation to sell and raise funds for their cause.

"The charities and good causes don't have to pay any monies up front, there is no minimum order and they can return any unsold, undamaged cards. It really is a no risk way to fundraise.

"Most of the people we have spoken to so far can see the benefits of the Peel2Save card over traditional fundraising.

"When times are hard, people are looking for value – Peel2Save gives them that and helps to raise money for good causes as well."

Elaine said: "I love the concept of Peel2Save. Local businesses get the opportunity to promote their goods and services for free, local people benefit from those offers and good causes and charities benefit from the funds raised.

"We have had some great feedback on the cards already – young people really like them and anyone with a family will soon get their money back. My card paid for itself as soon as I used the first offer."

Tim's on cue to be unsung hero

A MAN who offers free snooker lessons to adults with disabilities has potted a nomination as an unsung hero.

Entries are flooding in for our sister paper the Cambridge News's Community Awards – and among them is Tim Squires.

He was put forward by Kristy Woodley, who works at the Haverhill Community Resource Unit where Tim coaches.

Kristy said: "Since February last year, Tim has worked tirelessly to give them free and fun lessons."

"Although he has had no previous experience working with people with disabilities, he is a natural."

"The group love him, their skills and confidence have massively improved and as the only club of its kind in Haverhill, it has really brought a huge benefit to the community."

Tim runs the classes every Tuesday at the Haverhill Ex-Servicemen's Club for three groups.

He teaches students from the Granta School in Linton in the morning and adults with learning difficulties from Haverhill Gateway Club and the Haverhill Community Resource Unit in the afternoon.

Tim said: "These people may not have been given the opportunity to play before and when I see the enjoyment on their faces it makes it so worthwhile – I wish I could do it every day."

Nominations are now open for 10 award categories, including the Star of the Year which will be awarded to someone for making an outstanding contribution.

To nominate, fill in the form at www.cambridge-news.co.uk, by tomorrow (Friday, September 2).

Groups set out strategy for business

NEW ways that businesses and public services can work together in Suffolk will be discussed at a meeting on September 15.

Chris Bally, assistant director of business development for Suffolk County Council will be guest speaker at the bestofhaverhill group meeting taking place at Days Inn, Haverhill from 10-11.30am.

In his role as assistant director, Mr Bally is well placed to discuss current thinking on public services and the council's desire to develop new and innovative ways of working with businesses both locally and countywide.

Over the past 18 months, the county council has been looking at fundamentally changing the way it does business and the challenges for public services posed by the wider financial climate.

Earlier this year, the county council's new leader, Mark Bee, concluded that the council's new strategic direction had failed to connect with the people of Suffolk and signalled a change in policy.

Listening to and working with partners across Suffolk and developing new ways of working at a very local level are very much part of the council's new approach.

Mr Bally will talk about the role of One Haverhill, the new board representing major stakeholders of the town, and how the board will work alongside the county council to improve the quality of life for people in the town.

Elaine Carr, the owner of thebestofhaverhill said, "We are delighted to welcome Chris Bally as our guest speaker this month.

"The challenges facing our public services and the role of the public sector in supporting economic growth are important issues for Haverhill.

"It will be good for local businesses to hear about some of the key initiatives and proposals for the future and have the opportunity to contribute to and shape future ideas.

"I look forward to hearing what Chris has to say and I would encourage local business people to come along and hear firsthand about the plans and approaches being taken across Suffolk and locally now and their impact on the delivery of services within the town.

"This is an excellent opportunity to find out the facts or to raise a particular issue or express your views."

To attend the free event, call Elaine Carr on (01440) 710158 or email Haverhill@thebestof.co.uk by Monday September 12.

Runners urged to be in top 10

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

RUNNERS are being encouraged to take their marks for a new multi-terrain challenge dubbed the "Thurlow 10".

Haverhill Running Club has devised the innovative race which will be held across 10 miles of quiet country lanes and farm tracks, offering participants spectacular views of scenic farmland and woods surrounding Little and Great Thurlow.

The event, supported by Thurlow Estates, which is granting unprecedented access, will go ahead at 10am on Sunday October 23, and is open to both serious and casual runners.

The race will be run under UK Athletics rules and there will be prizes for the top three finishing men and women, with mementos for all who complete the course.

Trevor Bunch, race director, said: "The event is being sponsored by local company, JMP Furniture Solutions, and

On your marks: members of Haverhill Running Club with staff from event sponsor JMP Furniture.

CP

Cambridge's newest running store, Up & Running.

"We are very fortunate to have the support of these two companies as it allows us to plan a better-quality race for the runners.

"We are still seeking additional sponsors and would like to hear from anyone interested in sponsoring the race or able to provide event services."

He added: "The run looks very exciting. I started planning for it last September when I started talking to the landowners.

"It can take up to 300 runners and I expect its reputation to grow as the years go by."

Entries are now open and cost £10 for runners affiliated to England Athletics or £12 for unaffiliated runners.

Forms can be downloaded at www.haverhillrunningclub.org.uk or collected from Haverhill Leisure Centre, in Ehringhausen Way. People may also enter online at www.runbritain.com for a small admin charge.

A wild night after dark!

ZOO enthusiasts had the chance to experience wildlife at sunset at a successful charity night.

People watched a tiger eat her dinner and could stroke a meerkat at Linton Zoo for its first charity evening in aid of Wildlife Conservation.

Children had their faces painted, played games and took their chances in a lucky dip while others grabbed a bargain at the car boot sale on the grounds.

Behind the walls of the animals' enclosure, visitors saw the nocturnal beasts come out to play.

The zoo's resident photographer Colin Edwards exhibited some of his images and also held a clinic for budding photographers to get advice.

Kim Simmons, zoo director, said: "It was a brilliant success and we've been very busy."

"We've had lots of support and had fantastic contributions for the prizes for games and we couldn't have wished for better weather.

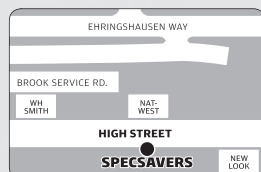

"Seeing all these people come to the zoo really shows how much people care for protecting our animals and Wildlife Conservation."

Ice work if you can get it

ICE skating in August was an unlikely activity in Haverhill.

A synthetic rink was last week set up at the Plaza in Ehringshausen Way as part of a free day of activities, also including sports and giant games.

The event was one of a series of Wicked Wednesdays, staged throughout August by Haverhill Town Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council, to help keep children amused during their summer holidays.

Previous events included a children's festival on the recreation ground and a family picnic in the East Town Park.

Slip sliding away: one youngster enjoys her turn on the synthetic ice during the day of free activities at the Plaza in Haverhill.

Mums stage a fabulous fundraiser

TWO mums who have started their own businesses raised more than £800 at a charity event.

The successful Absolutely Fabulous Ladies Charity Evening was held at Haverhill Arts Centre, organised by Sarah Egan and Tracy Connolly, who were happy to hand over a cheque for £830 to Breast Cancer Awareness.

Sarah said: "The venue was beautifully decorated and packed with local ladies promoting their businesses, selling fantastic products and services.

"With lots of women having to go back to work to help support their families, it was great to see so many making a business out of something they enjoy.

"We are extremely grateful to every person who supported the event by attending, donating, or helping on the night. We would also like to thank all those who sponsored the event or donated raffle prizes - to mention a few, Maureen Byrne, MPG Printwise, Genzyme, IFF, Quick Service Shoe Repairs, C&C Sheet Metal, The Plough Inn, Hundon, figleaves.com and Jan Cavelle Furniture."

The event was also aimed at raising the profile of the Wednesdays For Women Group, which meets every Wednesday morning at the Leiston Centre in Haverhill for coffee, chat and optional exercise, with a crèche available.

The group offers information and encouragement. Two women who met there went on to buy the Cheeky Chimps Funhouse at Boundary Road.

Through her company, Baghappy, Tracy sells handbags, purses and accessories via home parties and Sarah's business, Get Go Books, provides children's books.

Sarah and Tracy said they had received excellent advice and support from the Menta Business and Training Centre in Hollands Road, Haverhill.

Return to his acting roots

Acting legend Sir Ian McKellen is appearing on stage in Cambridge until Saturday. Here he talks to Clair Chamberlain about his latest role and why the city's Arts Theatre remains a special place to him

YOU'RE over in the UK to play the part of Mafia lord Don Antonio in Eduardo De Filippo's The Syndicate. What appealed to you about this play, and this part in particular?

It's a very popular play still in Italy and I wanted to do it because I'd been in another of his plays, Napoli Milionaria, at the National Theatre and I remember enjoying Filumena and Saturday, Sunday, Monday, also at the National Theatre.

The Syndicate is an enjoyable play to be in because it uses quite a large group of actors. There are many old friends of mine in it and the director's an old colleague, Sean Mathias. It's what I enjoy most about acting: working with friends and going on tour. I don't like sitting in London in the West End doing eight shows a week – I'd much rather be off around the country.

Do you think audiences will feel any sympathy for Don Antonio, or is any sympathy people may have undermined by his eccentric form of justice?

In all Eduardo De Filippo's plays there is a wonderfully exciting plot. You never know what's going to happen next, it's full of surprises. Every moment he tricks the audience and is always one step ahead so you might begin by thinking 'Oh dear, Don Antonio is not the sort of man I'd like to meet down a dark alley in Naples, he gets involved with violence and so on'. But he's unlike other criminal classes, or Mafia as we might like to think of him, in that he has a conscience, or he says he does, and is trying to stop violence rather than get involved with it. But it's not up to me to tell the audience what they think. I just play the character and I think they'll like him and find him amusing as well as being surprised by him and intrigued.

What do you think the personal effect is on Don Antonio when he has so many responsibilities and everyone wants a piece of him?

It's very late in his life, he's 75 years old, he's had a hard life, he lived abroad in America for a long time and got involved with the criminal classes, but he's been back in Naples now for 40 years or more, during which time he's been organising his cohorts to try and make the world a better place for the disadvantaged people of Naples. It's still the aftermath of the war, when it had been occupied by enemy forces, and the city hasn't really got itself back into anything that's properly organised and so Don Antonio does his best to help people who he thinks the law and the establishment have let down. I gather it's still the case in his district inner-city of Naples, which is still a rather dangerous place to go. So it's fiction but it smacks of the truth and what life was really like there.

It must be difficult to find time to fit this kind of activity in around your other commitments. How have you managed to fit this project into your schedule?

Well the big job I'm doing at the moment is filming The Hobbit in New Zealand. But before I agreed to return to Gandalf, I said 'Look, I must be able to do a play', because I don't feel quite sustained as an actor unless I'm looking forward to doing a play.

I've come back from New Zealand especially to do this project and I'm just managing to fit it in and do the tour. I'm at an age where I think I'm still fit... but any day now I might break an ankle or something might happen and I won't be able to work again in the theatre at the rate I do, so I'm just very happy to be doing it.

You began your acting career in Cambridge as a student at St Catharine's College. Have you performed here much since, and do you feel nostalgic about the city and its theatres?

The Cambridge Arts Theatre is a very dear place to me. As an undergraduate over 50 years ago I worked there because we undergraduates were allowed to perform in the professional theatre every so often. And yes, I've been back as an actor but this year it's actually 50 years since I left Cambridge and I've been acting ever since. Personally it's rather appropriate that I'm just going back to my roots and I haven't worked there as often as I would have liked over the years. I've been there on and off, helping them raise funds sometimes – it's a theatre that needs support.

Do you think your fame as a film actor has brought new audiences to the theatre?

I've always hoped that anyone who had enjoyed seeing me on film might be intrigued to find me in the theatre. I know some people are coming over from South America.

Bleak look into the future

IN town for just three nights before embarking on a tour of the United States, this bleak, black production of Macbeth offers a nightmarish vision of the future. Prepare to witness a landscape of dead trees and broken mirrors, inhabited by murderers who will stop at nothing to achieve their ambitions.

The Cambridge American Stage Tour at Cambridge's ADC Theatre is supported by Dame Judi Dench and offers the chance for 16 students of Cambridge University to tour the US.

Director John Haidar, a second-year student at Trinity College, shares his thoughts on this adaptation of 'the Scottish play':

"Macbeth is Shakespeare's most fearful play. Nowhere else does the word appear more in his work.

"What first struck me was the way in which fear acts as a stimulant and a sedative. Even so, while Macbeth is described as Shakespeare's 'anatomy of fear', I think there is something more profound going on in these pages.

"For me, the Scottish play represents a 'tragedy of the imagination'. It reveals the possibilities of what it is to be motivated by repressed desire.

"More importantly, even when we have nothing left to fear, it showcases the way in which we invent our own 'painted devil(s)'. Macbeth is exactly this: a story of a man who releases fear into his world and infects the lives of those around him.

"We also began to realise that the play is largely about absence. The absence of children resonates throughout.

"To have no children signifies the death of ambition: as children fail Macbeth, Macbeth's future fails. That he kills the king is a further 'breach in nature'.

"It is to cancel love, mock duty, and hack down the tree of life. Herein lies the key to this new production."

■ Performances: Tonight and tomorrow at 7.45pm. Saturday at 2.30pm. £5/6 concessions/adults.

Culture under the stars

IF you haven't yet enjoyed a spot of outdoor Shakespeare this summer, or if you've developed a taste for picnicking under the stars while soaking up some culture and want a final excuse to get the wicker hamper out, don't miss Rain or Shine's outdoor adaptation of Shakespeare's famous battle of the sexes, Much Ado About Nothing. As couples go, the fiery Benedick and Beatrice couldn't be more different from the gentle Hero and Claudio.

Constantly sparring, at first glance Benedick and Beatrice hardly seem a match made in heaven – yet their friends see through their bickering and conspire to make them recognise their true feelings for one another.

As external forces play a proactive role in this romance, for Claudio and Hero, who fall in love at first sight, the interference of others has near fatal results. Bring food, drink and something to sit on and see in September in style.

■ Much Ado About Nothing, Wandelbury Country Park, Cambridge, tonight at 7.30pm (picnics from 6pm). Tickets cost from £5.50 – contact (01223) 842600 or visit www.rainorshine.co.uk.

The big film

ONE DAY certificate 12a 108m

BASED on the best-selling book by David Nicholls, One Day has been described as the romance of the modern century, so it's little surprise that the screen adaptation has been eagerly anticipated. Anne Hathaway and Jim Sturgess take the leads as bookish Yorkshire lass Emma Morley and charming ladies' man Dexter Mayhew, who have a drunken encounter on their graduation day in 1988, and make a pact to remain friends. True to their words, the two friends stay in contact throughout the next few years, as Dex travels around the world while Emma slaves away in a Mexican restaurant in London. Their friendship is tested, first in 1992, when they decide on a spontaneous whim to go on holiday together. After breaking a number of Em's rules, Dex notes: "Me and you, it would be different. We want different things." Despite the friends working in London – Dex channelling a young Jonathan Ross as his TV career hits a peak, where he steals the crown as the "king of car-crash TV", while Em, who is now dating stand-up comic Ian (Rafe Spall), trains as a teacher – they often lose touch before reconnecting again. Unsurprisingly, the film, directed by An Education's Lone Scherfig with a script by Nicholls, rushes through the characters' lives throughout 20 years, as they deal with the joys and heartbreaks of life. The challenge of the adaptation depends largely on the chemistry between Hathaway and Sturgess, but all too often, her accent distracts from that. Hathaway – who has been described as too 'glamorous' for the part – does a pretty good job, although she switches between Yorkshire and London accents, with her American twang slipping out in certain scenes. The casting of Sturgess is a surprise but rather spot on. Although Spall steals the show as Ian, the other characters, such as Romola Garai as Dex's wife Sylvie and Patricia Clarkson as his mother, feel largely underused. The book is so well-loved that it is tough to do it justice, but despite everything, it's an able adaptation capturing the spirit of the original, which fans will still enjoy.

Spring into bulb season

by Hannah Stephenson

THE heat of summer may be fading, but if you want your borders and pots to sizzle in spring, you'll need to start planting bulbs from now through to autumn.

Whether you prefer drifts of snowdrops, daffodils, crocuses or bluebells, 'lasagne' plantings of layers of bulbs in containers to give you colour through spring or just a few simple species tulips or muscari in your rockery, there's room for bulbs in every garden, no matter what the setting.

Visit your local garden centre in late summer and autumn to get the best selection of blooms or order some bulb catalogues to plan your colour scheme.

Be adventurous in your choice, as there's so much more on offer than just the standard narcissi, tulips and snowdrops.

Chris Ireland-Jones, owner of specialist Avon Bulbs (www.avonbulbs.co.uk, tel 01460 242 177), says that if he could only plant one bulb type this autumn it would be the Camassia 'Electra', with its huge lilac blue flowers blooming in late April. Growing to 1m (3ft), it will sit happily in a border in sun or shade and, unlike many other bulbs, it likes heavy soil.

PETAL POWER: 'Aquila' produces at least four full-size flowers per stem and has just been introduced by specialist suppliers.

Bulbs should be planted 5in (12cm) deep, 6-12in (15-30cm) apart in humus-rich, moisture-retentive soil, in a spot which won't dry out until mid-summer.

"It flowers for a lot longer than other camassias, likes heavy soil and virtually nothing kills it," he enthuses.

"Camassias are underrated bulbs. Planted among other herbaceous perennials which flower later, they provide a lift in the season and can also be used as meadow plants in open conditions like grass."

Fans of wood anemones should check out A. nemorosa 'Blue Centred Double' and others in a new, wider range from Broadleigh Bulbs (www.broadleighbulbs.co.uk, tel 01823 286 231). It's a large-flowered double wood anemone with delicate blue backs and a tiny blue centre and requires partial shade.

Grape hyacinths (muscari) have historically had a bad press because they are invasive, popping up all over the place, but the 'Magic' group including 'White Magic' are fantastic for growing in pots, as is M. 'Mount Hood', with its dark blue flowers and white top. It's also suited to a rock garden or sunny bank, flowering in April, and looks great partnered with small species tulips and aubrieta.

This year's Spring Flowering Bulb of the Year is the bold and striking Narcissus 'Thalia', following much debate at the annual election hosted by The International Flower Bulb Centre.

It was voted for its ability to thrive in light and in shade and for its multiple sweetly scented flowers which bloom in May. Growing to 1ft (30cm) in height, it's ideal for planting in borders or containers, as well as around trees and under shrubs. Plant it in well-drained soil, roughly three times the bulb's height deep, between September and the end of November and ideally in a sunny or only partially shady spot.

It's a myth that you can't plant tulips with daffodils. However, they should never be placed together in a vase because when you cut daffodils they release a slimy substance containing bacteria which will affect tulips, reducing their staying power as a cut flower.

A number of new multi-flowering tulips, including 'Aquila' and 'Cartouche', which produce at least four full-size flowers per stem, have just been introduced by specialist bulb suppliers, P. de Jager & Sons (www.dejager.co.uk, or phone 01622 840229 for a free catalogue).

Spring bulbs must be planted in the autumn because they require a sustained dormant period of cold temperatures to stimulate root development. They generally like light, well-drained soil and if you're putting them in containers, place crocks in the pot and mix your compost with a handful of sand or grit before planting.

Narcissi are best planted in September, while tulips should be planted in late October and November.

If you are planting your bulbs in containers, never allow the pot to rest on the ground or the water will seep in from below and soak them, making them rot. They should always be placed on a free-draining stand or on pot feet and if you want a fuller display, pack them in tightly. Water them and place the pot outdoors.

You can put the pots in a sheltered spot near to the house so that they don't become completely waterlogged over the winter, although tulips need to have moisture throughout the cooler months or they'll end up short and stumpy.

For an eye-catching display of colour on the patio or by a wall, go for single colours of the same flower; but if you want to be a bit more adventurous you can go for, say, a sizzling display of red and yellow tulips, pansies and wallflowers, planted in stages from late summer to mid-spring.

The best bulbs for growing in pots are the ones which are naturally more compact, such as hyacinths, dwarf narcissi and Tulipa fosteriana.

Large-flowered daffodils and tulips tend to look a bit top heavy in pots and are prone to being knocked over by strong winds.

If you have large containers and want a succession of blooms, go for the 'lasagne' layered scheme, planting the larger bulbs such as tulips and narcissi lower down and dwarf bulbs such as crocuses and dwarf irises near the top.

Once your bulbs are over, keep feeding them after the flowers die and then you can plant them out in the garden where they should flower the following year, provided you plant them deeply enough.

What's what for '61' plate

THE late summer change is still a great time for car makers to introduce new models and acts as a timely reminder of what's in the works for the forthcoming months.

CITY CAR

A city car with the appeal of a luxury car would seem to be the perfect formula for sales success is Aston Martin's Cygnet.

Based on the Toyota iQ, the Cygnet may wear a rather eye-watering £30,995 price tag. If you fancy a more radical take, look no further than the electric Renault Twizy, which looks ideal for urban commuters.

SUPERMINI

Those looking for keen value for money could do a lot worse than the latest Chevrolet Aveo.

Also, Honda's Jazz Hybrid is the first supermini to benefit from such fuel-saving technology and the inevitable copycats will be hard pushed to better it.

FAMILY HATCH

It's hard to look too far beyond Ford's new Focus when shopping for a family hatch in 2011.

Maybe the Citroën's DS4 – a well equipped and sleek five-door hatch which continues Citroën's joyous revival.

MEDIUM RANGE

A Peugeot that's making waves is the 508, which offers great ride quality, tonnes of equipment, a range of economical engines and plenty of space inside. Volkswagen's evergreen Passat also continues to shine in this sector. Those willing to think laterally might prefer Hyundai's i40.

COMPACT EXECUTIVE

The BMW 3 Series, Audi A4 and Mercedes C-Class continue to poach sales from the medium range sector and of the three, the one with the three-pointed star on its bonnet is most improved for 2011.

EXECUTIVE

Things are far more interesting when you step up a class.

Audi's frankly jaw-dropping A6 manages to shoe-horn a whole Best Buy of tech on board and the interior quality is now at least a couple of notches beyond Mercedes and BMW. Jaguar's new XF, with the addition of a 2.2-litre diesel only underscores this car's desirability.

LUXURY

Those with a few bob in their pockets have some mouth-watering options. The list includes the latest Mercedes CLS, Porsche's Panamera Turbo S and Ferrari's FF.

CONVERTIBLE

Is there space in Volkswagen's range for a soft top Golf when the successful Eos convertible that's based on the same chassis already exists?

One car that I wasn't expecting to like quite as much as I did was Mini's Cooper SD Convertible. Happy hunting!

Two fifths add up to an eighth for Chandler

BRIAN Chandler took two fifth-place finishes at the penultimate weekend of action in the MX5 Mazda Championship at Brands Hatch.

The Haverhill racer lined up fifth on the grid for the first of the two races following a difficult qualifying session and endured a race-long battle with rival Jonathan Blake to hold on to his position.

Blake overtook him after 10 minutes of racing but after an intense battle around the Kent circuit, Chandler eventually regained the place.

Blake was held up by a backmarker on the penultimate lap and Chandler took full advantage to cross the finish line in fifth.

In the second race Chandler started from sixth place but he powered off the line into fourth at Paddock Hill Bend.

He came under intense pressure from Matthew Lambert and successfully held him off until the 16th lap when his rival finally got past him.

Chandler had no response to the faster car and ultimately had to settle for another fifth place.

The results put Chandler in eighth overall in the championship with the final rounds later this month.

Duo ripe for Cherry wins

HAVERHILL Rovers under-14s and West Wrating under-16s both continued their countdown to the new Cambridge and District Colts League season by winning their age-groups at the prestigious Cherry Hinton tournament.

Rovers' Eastern Junior Alliance side breezed through the competition without conceding a goal, while Wrating had to endure the drama of a sudden-death penalty shoot-out before getting their hands on the silverware.

Rovers topped their group of six after scoring 11 goals in winning four games and drawing the other.

In the final they came up against the defensively-minded Walpole Warriors, who threw a barrier of players between the ball and their goal in a bid to frustrate their rivals.

However, Rovers hit the woodwork twice before Chris Lewis scored the only goal, forcing

Elkins sets ball rolling for Wrating

ROSS Elkins set West Wrating on the way to a 3-0 Kershaw League, Premier Division victory at home to Hardwick.

Elkins opened the scoring 10 minutes before the break before Paul Jenkin doubled their advantage on the stroke of half time. Paul Hunt wrapped up the three points for the hosts 15 minutes from time. However, that scoreline was reversed on Tuesday when Wrating lost to Linton Granta.

his way past his marker and the keeper to slot home.

Wrating were also unbeaten in their group matches, goals from James Percy (2), Jordan Read (2) and Sam Langham setting up a final with Soham, who had earlier been beaten by an absolute belter from Percy.

Wrating went on the attack from the start and always looked the more likely to score. However, even extra time failed to produce a goal and the tie went to penalties, where both sides converted four of their first five attempts.

That forced sudden-death. Warnock made it 5-4 and Soham equalised, but their response to Ollington's cool finish was an attempt which cleared the bar, giving Wrating the trophy.

■ West Wrating's under-15s, sponsored by Affordable Courier Services, picked up two draws and a victory as their pre-season programme continued.

They drew 1-1 with Bury Town in an entertaining end-to-end encounter against a well-drilled Eastern Junior Alliance side, and repeated that scoreline against Fulbourn Falcons, Mitchell putting them ahead.

However, they recorded an impressive 2-0 success against Brandon with quality goals from Weedon and Ager.

Well done: Chris Vince receives the CAB Edwards Trophy from Haverhill head pro, Paul Wilby. CP

Chris, Hayden rain in juniors

CHRIS Vince and Hayden Durrant took the main honours in the Junior Club Championship at Haverhill.

Despite miserable conditions – the rain becoming heavier as the day progressed – all the juniors coped well in the 36-hole competition.

Vince won the CAB Edwards Trophy after finishing with a commendable 71, 79-150 to pip Michael Perrett (78,77-155) and Lewis Whiting (81,76-157).

Durrant put together two solid rounds of 90-23-67 and 86-23-63 to land the handicap competition with a nett 130.

Oliver Stevenson was the runner-up after rounds of 98-25-73 and 92-25-67 for a nett 140, with James Higham third after rounds of 80-16-64 and 93-16-77 produced a total of 141.

Durrant's day: Hayden Durrant after collecting the handicap cup from Paul Wilby. CP

■ Lyndon Brown claimed victory on countback in the IFF Challenge at Coupsals Road, shooting a nett 66 to pip Howard Craven. Jack Bligh topped Division One and the three have had their handicaps trimmed by one. Paul Mower has had his handicap reduced by two after topping Division Three.

Details – Division One: 1 Jack Bligh 79-11-68, 2 Andy Soffley 80-12-68, 3 Andy Fish 73-4-69. Division Two: 1 Lyndon Brown 79-13-66 on countback from 2 Howard Craven 85-19-66, 3 Steve Piotrowski 85-16-69. Division Three: 1 Paul Mower 95-28-67, 2 Chris Powell 94-24-70, 3 Robin Grapes 100-28-72.

Washouts extend the battle for survival

HAVERHILL'S battle to stay in the top-flight of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship is likely to go down to the wire.

Although they travel to title-chasing Mildenhall on Saturday, Haverhill's last two games of the Division One season are crunch clashes against bottom-of-the-table Abberton at home and at out-of-form Exning, who have been steadily sliding down the table and are now just 13 points better off.

While Abberton and Maldon look almost certain to fill the two certain relegation spots, Haverhill are worried the trap door might also remain open for the side which finishes third from bottom if a relegated team from the Gibbs Denley East Anglian Premier League opts to join.

At the moment, they fill that position and their situation has been hampered by the weather – Saturday's washout against Frinton was their fifth of the rain-blighted season.

And while they had to settle for six points Ipswich, the side who were within catching distance, beat Woolpit to earn 20 points and move into mid-table security. It's a direct contrast to last season when Haverhill were content to pick up the points for a washout as several games in the later stages of their triumphant march to the Division Two title were ruined by the weather.

MARSHALL HATCHICK TWO COUNTIES CHAMPIONSHIP

HUNTS COUNTY BATS SUNDAY LEAGUE
First XI: Haverhill v Mildenhall (1.30pm).
Division Four: Bardwell v Haverhill II.

■ Weston Colville's hopes of staying in the Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League appear to be diminishing after the second-from-bottom side lost by 58 runs at Castor & Ailsworth. The Division Two leaders were all out for 143, but Weston Colville were dismissed for 85.

■ However, Horseheath will finish outside the Cricket Stick CCA Senior League, Division One drop zone. They won at Camden II to condemn Bluntisham and Balsham to the drop after Gary Ellis' 4 for 28 and Martin Giles' 2 for 31 helped dismiss the Cambridge side for 152. Brothers Alan and Mick Ketteridge (39) got Horseheath off to a flyer with a 56-run opening partnership, before knocks from Colin Bailey (25) and Giles (28 not out). The job was completed by David Lowe, who smashed nine runs off a Mark Critchford over to get Horseheath home at 156 for 6.

No go for Coe as Jay hits back to take title

CHRIS Jay launched a stunning comeback to beat his Rose Tavern Tarts team-mate Stuart Coe in a thrilling Haverhill Thursday League singles cup final.

Coe took a 2-0 lead and had the winning line in his sights, but Jay dug in and, producing the clinical potting accuracy and positional play his rivals know and expect, he battled back to win 3-2.

The Doubles Cup also produced an all-Rose Tavern final. Steve Peregrine and Chris Mewse (Rose Tavern A) beat Kevin Roskilly and Del Cox (Rose Tavern B) 3-0, taking advantage of unforced errors with some unflustered finishing.

>> Football: Ridgeons League

We salvaged point, says relieved Betts

Haverhill Rov 2 Kirkley & Pakefield 2
Ridgeons League, Premier Division
A BELOW-PAR Haverhill had to settle for a draw at home to Kirkley & Pakefield on Saturday.

After a goalless first half, two goals in two minutes gave the visitors a 2-0 lead around the hour mark.

The home side eventually clawed their way back into the match when Marcus Hunt reduced the deficit with just over 20 minutes to go.

Greg Strong netted the equaliser less than five minutes later, but despite some late pressure the winner did not arrive. "We didn't really perform," said Rovers boss Peter Betts.

"But having said that, we played poorly but still came away with a point, so we're happy about that. In the end it was a point salvaged."

Haverhill are back on the FA Cup trail on Saturday, taking on Brantham at the New Croft in the preliminary round.

And the reserves start their Ridgeons League Reserve League, South Division campaign at Brightlingsea Regent reserves on Saturday.

■ Late goals from Stuart Wardley and Stuart Kingham completed a memorable comeback for Rovers as they beat CRC 3-2 in the Premier Division on Wednesday.

Hosts CRC dominated the first half and went in front moments before the interval. Dan Cornwell netted on the hour to level, but 15 minutes later CRC grabbed a second to move 2-1 ahead.

Rovers pushed forward in search of an equaliser but it was not until the 85th minute when Cornwell was brought down in the area and Wardley stepped up to convert the penalty.

And in stoppage time, Kingham converted a corner to the far post to seal victory.
